LEADERS MEET ON FOREIGN AID

Compromise Sought by Monday in House, Senate Conference.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The stop-gap foreign aid program moved into the dickering stage today with a possibility the senate might okay some help for China if the house would agree to more for Europe.

Congressional leaders were shooting for a compromise by Monday. Five members from each chamber were assigned to start work on one this morning.

The senate passed its aid bill Dec. 1. The house waited until yesterday, then swished its measure through without even a nose count.

The principal idea of both bills is to see to it that France, Italy and Austria get fuel and food this winter. But the house measure differs in major respects from what the administration proposed and the senate accepted.

President Truman wanted $597,000,000 for the three European countries. The senate went along. Then the house pared the amount to $590,000,000 and said China should be dealt in for $60,000,000 of the total.

One clue pointing to a possible line of compromise came from Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), a member of the foreign relations committee. He said the committee had agreed unanimously with Secretary of State Marshall that something should be done for China later, in a separate bill, but now: "It will be difficult for the senate to knock out the fund for China because any such action would be regarded as a slap."

As to the amount of money, Smith was doing no forecasting. But he said figures received by the senate seemed to support the full $597,000,000 for Europe alone. And since the house has some new

CHILD SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Three-year-old Shirley Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rice of 227 St. James street, escaped with minor bruises when she toddled into the path of a car driven by Clarence Sellars, 42, of Bear Forest, on West Center street at 4:45 p. m. yesterday, according to city police.

According to reports, the child had been with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fox of Girard avenue, in the Palace Recreation center. After being dressed to go home, she slipped unnoticed from stairs by herself and into the street.

Witnesses recalled seeing her running on the south side of the street. According to police, the accident happened as she was coming from the north side, where Mr. Fox's car was parked, over to the south side bowling alley.

She was treated for bruises by a Marion physician and released.

Lost $100,000, Pauley Asserts

Sold Holdings When He Became War Secretary Aide, He Tells Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Edwin W. Pauley testified today he is $100,000 worse off" because he sold his holdings in commodity futures after taking over his post as special assistant to the secretary of the army.

Reading a brief prepared statement to the senate appropriations committee, Pauley said he has sold nine-tenths of his holdings and none of his Army connections had been used in his tradings.

Pauley, whose last run-in with congress brought about Harold Ickes' resignation from a cabinet job, yesterday was ordered by Chairman Bridges (R-NH) to tell the committee about his grain dealings.

Pauley's statement to the committee follows:

"At the time I accepted the position of special assistant to Secretary Royall I was the owner of certain futures and commodities. In accordance with the agreement made with Mr. Royal at that time I have liquidated approximately 90 per cent of those commodities, reducing my holdings of grain from 500,000 bushels to

CLUES SOUGHT IN COLUMBUS MURDER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12—Police theorized today robbery was the motive for the used car slaying of 26-year-old Elmo C. Rice, crippled Columbus real estate dealer.

Detective Capt. Glenn C. Hoffman said he believed a man who answered an advertisement offering a 1947 sedan for sale, inserted in a Columbus newspaper by Rice, intended to rob the Columbus man of his car and any money Rice might have been carrying.

Rice's thrice-pierced body was found on a bridge north of Columbus Wednesday night.

A taxicab driver told police today he drove a well-dressed man to the home of Rice the night the real estate operator was found slain.

Police launched an all out search for the stranger after hearing cab driver Paul Long's story of how he picked up the prosperous-appearing fare at a downtown hotel about 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Long said his passenger, between 30 and 35, chatted casually about the weather on the trip.

Late developments in the search for the slayer was the report of two 15-year-old Worthington High school students—William Arter and Joe Feather, who told Worthington Marshal James Taladay they saw a car they believed now to have been the death auto.

They said that between 8:45 p. m. and 8:55 p. m. they saw an automobile cross the bridge on which Rice's body was found, turn around and park on the bridge. The car's lights went out for a few minutes and the youths, believing they were watching "a necking party," yelled derisively.

The car lights, they told Taladay, quickly came on and the auto hurriedly left the bridge. The two youths said they were about 150 yards from the bridge and did not return to investigate.

A motorist found Rice's body on

20 LIVES LOST AS ARMY PLANE HITS HILLSIDE

Wooded Area Near Memphis Municipal Airport Scene of Crash.

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 12—An Army C-47 plane burst into flames with a flash seen two miles away and crashed into an open hillside near here shortly after dark last night, killing at least 20 and possibly 21.

The big craft slashed through a small wooded area within two miles of the Memphis municipal airport and twisted into a sage field, scattering bodies and wreckage over a quarter-mile path.

Trees were torn down. In one, a half-open parachute dangled. Twisted masses of metal hung on other limbs and dotted the ground.

Col. Donald K. Fargo, commanding officer of the 468th air forces base unit, announced the death toll as 20—with possibly another body in the wreckage—and said a board was investigating.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of relatives. An Army spokesman said two were believed to be Negroes.

Fargo said the plane was based at Aberdeen, Md., and had made its last stop at El Paso, Texas, yesterday. It was returning from the west coast.

Fargo would not speculate on the cause. The ceiling was reported at 1,700 feet shortly after the crash, which the Army said occurred at 6:05 p. m. (CST).

The crash was the worst air disaster in this vicinity since Feb. 11, 1944, when an American Airlines plane plunged into the Mississippi river 15 miles below Memphis and killed 24 persons.

Survivors Tell About Labrador Crash

By The Associated Press

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Dec. 12—An Army helicopter was poised for a second rescue flight from Goose bay airfield today to pick up a second trio of survivors of an Army transport command plane which crashed into a low hillside in the snow covered Labrador wasteland.

The six survivors of the crash, which killed 23 others, were expected to leave by air today for Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C. The first three rescued, flown 10 miles from the scene of the wreck to the Goose Bay hospital yesterday, were identified by Army officials here as Lt. J. M. Bickley, of Santa Monica, Calif., Cpl. John Shaner, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Lt. Col. Harry Bullis, of Portland, Mich.

All three were reported to be in "fair condition—not injured critically."

Bullis was quoted by an Army officer who flew back here last night from Goose Bay as saying the crash was "undoubtedly caused by power failure."

Bullis was quoted as saying he was lying in a bunk near the front of the plane just after the takeoff from Goose Bay Tuesday at midnight "when suddenly there was a terrific vibration which shook the whole plane.

"Right after the awful vibra-

NEW RUSSIAN OFFER HINTED

Possible Molotov Concession on German Reparations Reported.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 12 — Soviet sources reported today Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might offer to defer Russia's $10,000,000,000 reparations claim against Germany if the foreign ministers' conference would agree to immediate establishment of all-German economic and administrative agencies in the reich.

These sources, close to the Russian delegation at the conference, said Molotov might propose today a deferment of the claim for reparations from current production until German economy is balanced and the country is paying its own way. There was no immediate estimate of how long this would be.

Whether such a concession would open the way for an overall German settlement remains questionable. The Russian approach to the creation of all-German administrative and economic agencies differs substantially from U.S. views.

Russia prefers the vesting of more power in a central authority. The United States, backed by France and Great Britain, favors a limited decentralization.

Molotov is expected to make a major statement today or tomorrow.

This statement, which Soviet sources said should be delivered before the weekend, probably will be Molotov's promised response to U.S. Secretary of State Marshall's assertion Wednesday that Russia's reparations demands could not be paid without either wrecking Ger-

ARMED FORCES BACK UP ROME PEACE EFFORTS

Riot Squads Charge Surging Crowds Chanting Communist Anthem.

By The Associated Press

ROME, Dec. 12—Jeep-borne police riot squads, swinging clubs, charged surging crowds today in the heart of strike-bound Rome, as throng chanted the Communist anthem "Red Flag."

Police quickly cleared the crowds, in the Piazza Colonna, from their concentration point below the windows of the Italian foreign office. The crowd gave way, jeering and hooting.

Two Associated Press photographers from the United States, J. Walter Green and Frank Noel, were struck on the head by police clubs, but suffered no serious injury. They continued working after identifying themselves.

The situation in Rome grew more ominous today as Premier Alcide de Gasperi's government backed with strong-arm police measures its attempt to negotiate a settlement of the eternal city's general strike, now in its second day.

In the Piazza Colonna, in the heart of the capital and under the windows of the foreign ministry, helmeted police charged crowds gathered under the vast arcades, laying about them with truncheons.

Two uniformed police officers armed with carbines and truncheons were assigned to each half-ton truck converted to passenger service. These have become Rome's only transport system, just as they were in the early months of the city's liberation.

Some Business Operating

In contrast to yesterday's almost complete paralysis of normal commercial activity, some cafes, bars and small shops opened for business.

Tension in the Italian capital was increased by reports that 20,000 war-time Communist partisans were converging on the city from the north and that violence might be in the offing.

The Communist - controlled Chamber of Labor, which ordered the work stoppage ostensibly to enforce demands for winter unemployment relief, announced late

German Girl In U. S. To Be Bride Of Bucyrus Man

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 11—"They are like fairyland" exclaimed German Ernestine Lehner of Bucyrus when she went on her first shopping excursion this week following her arrival here by air from Nuerenberg, Germany, to become the bride of Robert Heinlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Heinlen, route 1.

Miss Lehner, who was met at Columbus airport by her prospective husband, was attired in a modish top coat which she said had been tailored from an army blanket, dyed black and stylish black pumps sent her from America. She verified the scarcity of clothing in her homeland and explained that no clothing could be purchased except at extremely high prices in the black market.

More than a year was required in preparing the necessary papers and in completing other requirements for her departure for the states.

Miss Lehner has a good speaking knowledge of the English language, which she studied for one year in school and supplemented with lessons after meeting the man she is to marry. Her knowledge of English was also furthered in her duties as an identification clerk in the German criminal police department where she adso served as interpreter.

She left in Germany her parents and a 19-year-old brother. Her father is a structural engineer.

The couple have not set the date for the wedding but plan to make it "soon". Their romance developed while Heinlen was stationed in Nuerenberg with an engineer's corp in 1945.

Gessaman in the Franklin county common pleas court, The Associated Press reported.

Another Marion man and a Zanesville man, arrested in connection with the case, are out on bond awaiting grand jury here on charges of receiving stolen property.

G.O.P. Senate Group Agrees On New Anti Inflation Plan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The senate Republican policy committee agreed today on an anti-inflation program pointed at voluntary action to reduce the cost of living. Details were withheld.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the policy group said a statement of principles will be issued tomorrow after it has been checked with the house Republican policy group and a conference of all G.O.P. senators.

Although Taft declined to discuss the G.O.P. proposals, he said the statement would include three of four proposals which are a part of the house committee-approved Wolcott bill.

Democrats are organizing a drive to put some of President Truman's anti-inflation proposals into the Republican measure, which already has come in for criticism from G.O.P. ranks.

Minority Leader Rayburn (Texas) told a reporter that when the committee-approved Wolcott bill for voluntary cost of living action comes before the house next week Democrats will insist on debating procedure under which "we can offer many amendments."

Although Rayburn himself has not said what amendments he has in mind, other Democrats left no doubt they will be the administration bills Mr. Truman said he will send to congress soon.

To counter this attack, the G.O.P. leadership was said to be preparing to ask for action on the Wolcott bill under a suspension of house rules, a parliamentary device which would bar amendments from the floor.

Committee Authority

The powerful house rules committee decides by majority vote of its members how each bill is to be considered by the house, including how long it can be debated and what type, if any, amendments can be offered.

But the senate has no similar "gag" procedure.

Senator Baldwin (R-Conn), who has criticized his party's leaders in the past for what he contended was their failure to provide a "positive" program, came out with one of his own in a speech in Clifton, N. J., last night.

Baldwin plugged for standby power under law, somewhat similar to that asked by President Truman, to ration meat, wheat and some other scarce food items.

The Wolcott bill contains no provision for compulsory controls of this nature. It relies instead on voluntary agreements for allocations — that is, parceling out scarce materials—and other steps designed to lead to possible price reduction.

The Wolcott measure would permit suspension of the anti-trust act provisions to permit industry and agriculture to get together on such agreements.

Democratic maneuvering pulled the Wolcott bill out of the fire in the house banking committee yesterday by a 14 to 9 vote after the measure first had been turned down by an unfavorable 13 to 12 vote.

Indicating Republican opposition in the house, Rep. Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio) said the measure proposed "just another NRA"—the national recovery administration of the mid-30's—with its voluntary agreements feature.

CONGRESS IS GIVEN SPECIFIC PRICE PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Specific proposals for price ceilings and roll backs under President Truman's request for standby anti-inflation powers were submitted to congress today by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

Replying to Republican demands that the administration spell out its anti-inflation program, Schwellenbach said price controls would be limited to commodities:

1. That basically affect the cost of living and which are essential items.

2. That are basic to the costs of agricultural and industrial production.

3. "Essential to effectuation of the foreign policy of the United States.

Moreover, Schwellenbach said a maximum price should be set only when:

1. The commodity is found to be in short supply; 2. Or, the price of such commodity has risen unreasonably above the price prevailing in June, 1947.

Maximum prices lower than the highest price prevailing between June 11 and June 18, 1947, may be established under Schwellenbach's proposals to make allowances for decreased costs or market declines.

Schwellenbach sent the price control provisions to Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the house banking committee, with a note saying he will submit in a day or two specific language for such wage controls regarded as necessary to accompany price ceilings.

CLAIMS COUNTY IS WITHOUT JURISDICTION

Motion for Acquittal Filed on Grounds Roxie Green Slain in Delaware County.

The first degree murder trial of Ray A. Shappard, accused of the hammer slaying of Roxie Ann Green, Prospect High school sophomore, was abruptly recessed this morning when counsel for the defense moved that the court direct the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" on the grounds that the state had failed to prove its allegations under the indictment and that Marion county does not have jurisdiction over the case.

The motion, made immediately after the state had rested its case, came as a surprise move by the defense counsel. Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith called a recess until early afternoon to consider the motion.

If sustained, the move by Shappard's attorneys, Ralph and Dwight Carhart, would mean dismissal of the jury and release of Shappard to Delaware county authorities.

Say Crime in Delaware County

Counsel for the defense made its motion on the grounds that as the crime, according to evidence submitted, had been committed in Delaware county the defendant should be tried there rather than in Marion county.

Defense counsel argues that the statute providing that an offender may be tried in either county when the crime has been committed within a specified distance between two counties, such as in this case, has been ruled in part unconstitutional on the grounds that it conflicts with a provision in the state constitution that provides jury trials for public offenses must be held in the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed.

The Shappard case had been accepted by County Prosecutor James E. Reed under provision of the statute giving either county jurisdiction in borderline cases, known as the "100-rod law."

Reed Rests Case

County prosecutor James E. Reed rested his case shortly after 10:30 a. m. whereupon Ralph Carhart immediately moved that the court direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty to the charge of first degree murder.

He argued the state had not proved beyond a reasonable doubt all allegations in a first degree murder indictment and further that the jury had no jurisdiction to hear testimony in this case as the state in direct examination had introduced testimony that the crime had been committed in Delaware county.

Carhart declared that according to the laws of the state, the court should notify Delaware county officials to come and take the defendant.

Addressing the court Dwight Carhart said that under the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution no state shall "deprive any person of life liberty or property without due process of law."

Quoting from an opinion by Justice Turner of the Ohio Supreme court Carhart said "A grand jury may inquire of and present only such offenses as have been committed within the county for which said grand jury was impaneled and sworn."

Argues Disposition

As to the disposition of the defendant, Ray Shappard, Carhart again referred to legal precedent in the law quoting: "If on the trial of a criminal cause, it shall appear that the offense was committed within the exclusive jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court must direct the defendant to be committed for such time as it deems reasonable, to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest—a defendant in such case shall not be detained in such jail nor held under bond for a period of more than ten days.

Judge Smith immediately called a recess to study the basis of the motion made by defense counsel as entered by Dwight Carhart. Recalling the jury 15 minutes later the court announced a recess until 1 p. m.

The courtroom was packed this morning as the state called its final three witnesses and asked for and was granted permission by court to submit in evidence all 17 of its exhibits.

Interest quickened within moments after the session opened with cross examination of Sheriff LeRoy Retterer by Ralph Carhart. The sheriff was on the stand when court adjourned Thursday afternoon.

Carhart hammered away at the sheriff questioning him on the circumstances surrounding the signed statement made by Shappard and of the extent of conversation the

STATE TO GIVE NEWS ON ROAD CONDITIONS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12—The state highway department advised motorists today they needn't take unnecessary risks this winter by traveling roads made hazardous by snow and ice.

Director Murray D. Shaffer said the department had established a road condition information reporting system that gathered the latest reports twice daily on weather and road conditions throughout the state.

The department distributes the reports to newspapers, auto clubs, and radio stations. The state highway patrol's five radio stations in various sections of the state broadcast the road bulletins each day at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Motorists also may obtain the information by calling any state highway department division office or state highway patrol station.

Earl L. Reeb, chief engineer of the bureau of maintenance and repair, supervises the system.

ELKS OF DISTRICT TO MEET TWO DAYS

Marion Lodge To Be Host Saturday and Sunday.

Final plans were made for entertaining delegates and visitors to the North-Central District meeting to be held here Saturday and Sunday at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, last night. Karl S. Kay, general chairman, announced a dance would be held Saturday night for members and the guests.

A number of the state officers will be present for the meeting which will get under way Sunday at 2 p. m. The business session will be followed by a dinner in the grill room. The Elk Women's club will entertain the wives of the visiting Elks Sunday afternoon in the clubrooms.

Several applications were balloted on and plans completed for initiation of a class of candidates next Thursday night. A contribution was made to Father Flanagan's "Boys' Town" and a health bond was purchased in the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association. Arrangements were made to supply Christmas baskets for less fortunate families in the city and Homer D. Cole was named chairman for the project. A memorial service was held for H. O. Toms, a member whose death occurred last Sunday.

Mine Explosion That Killed 6 Investigated

By The Associated Press

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 12—State and federal mine officials today began probing 1,000 feet underground to determine the cause of a blast that killed six men and injured two others at the Lehigh Coal company's colliery three miles from Wilkes-Barre.

More than 200 men were working in various sections of the anthracite mine when the blast occurred yesterday, including eight or 10 in the blast chamber.

The coal company identified those killed as Stephen Sillup, 47; Frank Chudlio, 55; Ignatz Skzynecki, 57; Roger Jones, 41, Casper Pulak, 24, and Michael Guidaitis, 66.

The U. S. mine department reported that several earlier recommendations for improved safety were repeated in the last inspection of the shaft last June, but added that no particularly hazardous conditions were reported.

General Electric Sets Price Increase Limit

SCHNECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 12—The General Electric company has set a 20 per cent limit for price increase in the apparatus department.

Orders received since Dec. 9 will be priced "within this ceiling" at the time of shipment, the company announced.

The limitation applies to such products as motors, generators turbines, power transformers and locomotives.

Small Fire in Hotel Calls Out Department

Firemen were called to the Milner hotel at 139 North Main street at 11:16 a. m. today when a lighted match or cigaret dropped through loose floor boards in a second story room started to burn, according to reports by the fire department. Only a small loss resulted. Engines No. 1 and quad truck from Central station responded.

Aid Approval Is Nearer

HOUSE opposition to the interim aid bill turned out to be largely vocal, with a substantial majority standing for a measure much like that approved by the senate. The Congressional Record's account of the house debate showed many diversions from the issue a hand, but there was little disposition to come out flatly for no aid to western Europe, or for a sharply reduced total.

As the measure shapes up in the house, $60,000,000 is allocated for China, a doubtful appropriation at best and one which should be subjected to the closest scrutiny at the senate-house conference to compromise differences. The state department should be consulted on the wisdom of this allocation and should be requested to divulge the contents of the Wedemeyer report on China, which it has elected to withhold. The allocation for China would be so small as to have no effect there, as any sum within our capacity would be.

Once the disposition of the house on interim aid was apparent, the outlook for approval of the Marshall plan became brighter. Chances are it will have rougher sledding, but it should pass, possibly without the long-term commitment stated in a fixed sum of dollars. The dollar's value isn't static these days, as any housewife will attest, and not even the best prophet would attempt a guess as to its buying power four or five years hence.

Meanwhile, the congressional attitude on stop-gap aid will give encouragement to the embattled French and Italian governments. Although the vast scope of the European recovery program has given rise to serious misgivings on the part of some, it is the course we have elected to follow in the belief it is best.

They'll Be Heard in Court

THE 10 Hollywood figures who tried to answer a congressional committee's yes-or-no question with long dissertations will have their day in court. Their indictment should lead to a legal action that will set straight for once and for all the power of congressional investigating committees.

The questions put to these witnesses by the Thomas committee were basically no different from those other committees have put to persons of other ideological persuasions. The difference is that this time the questions were addressed to articulate, well-heeled individuals trained in making a racket to confuse the issue.

The Thomas committee hearings drew attacks from individuals and organizations which accepted other investigations with silence, or maybe even a little sideline cheering, which makes their present clamor doubly suspect. Their sudden alarm for the state of health of the bill of rights has an air of hypocrisy about it.

The house has decided it needs information on the extent and methods of subversive groups among us and it has as much right to obtain that information as it has to seek war contract frauds or oil lease scandals. The house investigators have an equal right to ask a witness if he is a member of the Screen Writers Guild or the National Association of Manufacturers. The clamor that goes up when a band of suspected fellow travelers get their collective tail caught in a crack is loud but not heart-rending.

If there is something wrong with the congressional investigation system, it has been wrong a long time. Those who let out shrieks of anguish at this particular case are doing a job for the Communist party.

Mr. Lewis Makes an Offer

THE nation is short of fuel oil and gas because so many persons are abandoning coal furnaces for home heating, says John L. Lewis, and he adds: "If this nation will take out its oil burners and put back its old grates, we will keep it warm."

Mr. Lewis' beneficient offer sounds nice but he hasn't put anything in writing. He hasn't assured the many who have converted to oil or gas that coal strikes no longer will be an annual source of worry.

Scientists say the day is near when thermal pumps will draw heat from the ground to warm houses in winter, and work in reverse to cool them in summer. The recurrent coal strikes and threats of coal strikes have had their part in the development of this device.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Topsy-turvy Trade Lineup Gets Worse.

BACK in 1933, the London economic conference was called to save the world from the effects of a stoppage of international trade, attended by the principal nations. Whimsically, President Roosevelt killed it.

In the 14 years that have passed since then, the very conditions that the conference was called to cure have grown worse. They have not only been aggravated by a war that devastated both Europe and Asia but two of the principal producing nations have been felled and produce no more.

Clair Wilcox, director of the office of international trade policy of the state department, correctly describes conditions for the year 1947 as follows:

SOKOLSKY

"...Instead of shrinking, exchange controls and quota systems have taken on a larger scope. Instead of relaxation, they have been intensified. Instead of declining, discrimination is on the rise. Instead of disappearing, bilateral agreements, swapping promises of export licenses and setting up clearing accounts, have been renewed and multiplied. And even in the articles of agreement of the international monetary fund, the charter for an international trade organization, and the general agreement on tariffs and trade one finds exceptions that will permit restrictionism and discrimination to survive. The most important of these exceptions are temporary; they are subject to prescribed conditions; and they are surrounded by careful safeguards. But they offer no assurance that the conditions that govern the trade of the world will shortly be set to rights. Indeed, before these conditions get better it is even possible that they may take a turn for the worse."

Puzzling Situation

The foreign trade of the United States presents a startling picture. We are exporting, in 1947, $19,000,000,000 in goods and services. Goods exported amount to more than $15,000,000,000 which is five times the amount exported before the war. Our total imports for 1947 amount to about $8,000,000,000. This means that the world owes us $11,000,000,000 for 1947 which has to be paid for in goods or in dollars—or we give them what we export for nothing.

If, for a prolonged period, we find ourselves holding the bag for such huge sums, we shall have to tax our people into poverty. No nation can afford to give away its wealth or to pay its customers to buy its goods. That, in effect, is precisely what we propose to do under the so-called Marshall plan: we propose to pay Europe, possibly $5,000,000,000 a year so that the Europeans can buy some American goods.

The question is not hope and charity nor even faith. It is a cold matter of what a country can afford to do. Mr. Wilcox makes the point:

"...Our exports are outrunning our imports for Europe by nearly 5 billion dollars, for North America by 1¾ billion dollars, for South America by 1¼ billion dollars, for Asia by 1 billion dollars, and for Africa by over ½ billion dollars. . . ."

That is called a favorable balance of trade, but in the topsy-turvy world in which we live, it is actually an unfavorable balance, because the party of the second part cannot meet the difference. He cannot take care of his balances. He is stuck and all that he can do about it is to stick us.

Taxpayer Pays Twice

The picture is further complicated by the socialism of our customers. In the multilateral trading system of the capitalist world, private traders barged in to earn a dollar, but the Socialist governments prefer barter among governments. Such products as rubber, tin and cocoa are government controlled. The Socialist government of Great Britain really forces upon the world the kind of barter for which they criticized Mussolini and Hitler. As for Soviet Russia, it limits all foreign trade to government contracts. The result is bilateral trade, that is, each deal stops with a buyer-seller transaction and there are no margins for settlement outside the transactions, except subsidies from America.

This process, whether you understand it or not, cost us pretty close to $11,000,000,000 in 1947. it may amount to even more. And the American taxpayer pays for it twice: once in taxes, and again in higher prices. Cut away the oratory from the Marshall plan and all it does is to give the customer the money he needs to buy our goods for which he cannot pay.

The Long Lip of the Law

A Minnesota sheriff has taken a spare-time job as a disc jockey. Most law enforcement officers are interested only in criminal records.

The sheriff is a two-gun man, one supposes, who fears no one this side of Petrillo.

The sheriff's new duties will aid him with his old ones. He can take home a singing commercial and give suspects the fourth degree.

Still, a great many people think there ought to be a law against disc jockeys serving as sheriffs. In fact, a great many people think there ought to be a law against disc jockeys.

Will crime take a holiday while the sheriff is on the air?

If not, imagine the sheriff, laying down his microphone and going forth to make an arrest . . . "Hands up in the name of the law . . . But First a Word From Our Sponsor."

Interview with Roosevelt

He Changed His Mind on Stock Purchase.

IN his new book, "Confessions of a Congressman," Jerry Voorhis, for 10 years Democratic congressman from California, tells the following story of an interview with Franklin Roosevelt:

"When I was admitted to the President's oval office, resolved to get at the matter at once, I said in as loud and clear a voice as I possessed: 'Mr. President, I believe the time has come when the Congress should pass a bill for the purchase of the capital stock of the 12 central Federal Reserve Banks.' The President reared back in his swivel chair, took a draft of his cigaret, opened his eyes as wide as they could possibly have been opened . . . and said 'I think we probably should do it. I think the time has come to buy that stock.'

"The President then rang for Gen. Watson, his secretary and said: 'Call Eccles on the phone and tell him I believe it's time for the government to buy the stock of the Federal Reserve Banks.'

"'But, Mr. President,' I said, 'can I tell anyone on the Hill that you said that?'

"He hesitated, I thought, just a moment. Then, 'Surely, you can. Tell Henry Stegall and Bob Wagner if you want to.' (The chairman respectively of the House and Senate banking and currency committees.)

"'Can I tell them you hope their committees will take action on a bill?'

"'There wouldn't be much of any other way to do anything, would there', he laughed."

Back on Capitol Hill a few minutes later Jerry Voorhis began calling on members of the banking and currency committees. Before long he was called to the telephone in the cloakroom off the House floor. "It was Gen. Watson at the White House. 'Please don't say anything about what the President told you for a while. Eccles and he are talking it over. I'll call you in an hour or two.'"

Voorhis explained what he had already done. Watson seemed somewhat disturbed but said not to do anything more.

Voorhis concludes his chapter: "About two hours later General Watson called again. This time it was to tell me that the President had decided he had better not do anything about the matter I had discussed with him just now. Mr. Eccles wanted to talk it over with Mr. Currie. Currie was a member of the White House staff who had formerly been with the Federal Reserve Board—but was at the moment in China! . . . Needless to say, General Watson never called again."

Pee-Wee the Picker Picks a Peck PDQ

By The Associated Press

WENATCHEE, Wash. — Paul (Pee-Wee) Coble is considered quite a man with an apple hereabouts, since he picked 461 boxes of the Delicious variety in a 10-hour day and put in a claim for the world record.

His employer, A. L. Sylvester, vouched for the total and said the boxes were well filled and the fruit carefully handled.

Figuring 125 apples to the box,

Coble was handling the fruit at a rate of some 5,750 apples an hour, or 96 a minute. This doesn't allow for the time he consumed in moving, climbing and descending his 12-foot ladder.

Coble is a professional picker who "follows the fruit" and says he's also tthe world champion orange plucker.

The previous claimant to the apple snatching crown was Henry Wooten who accounted for 425 boxes in nine and a half hours.

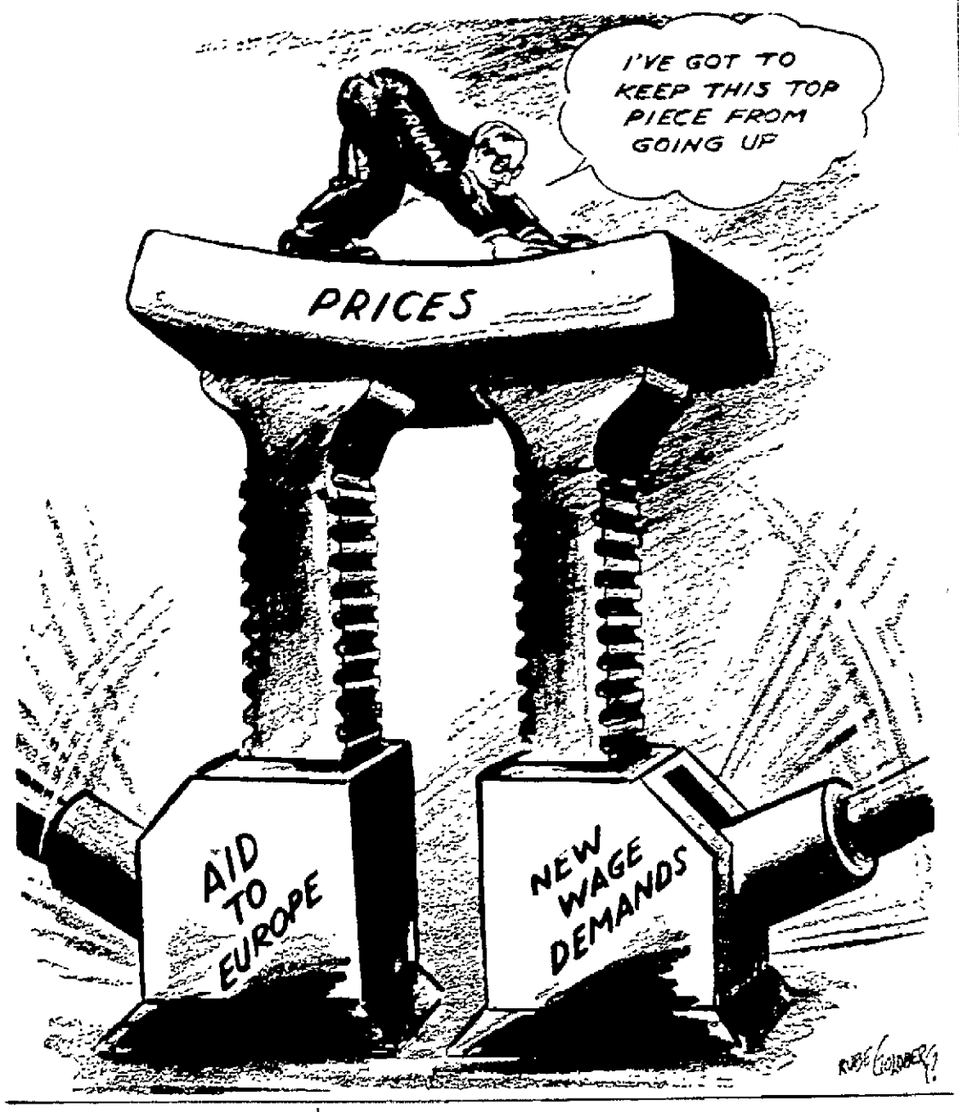
A Good Trick If You Can Do It



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Snday, Dec. 12, 1937.

One American seaman was fatally injured when Japanese fliers sank the U. S. gunboat, Panay, and two Standard Oil Co. ships near Nanking. Aboard the Panay was Peres Zeigler, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Zeigler of west of Ashley. The Japanese Navy avowed "profoundest regret" for the "terrible mistake."

Paul M. Cramer, 24, employe of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. died at his home on Olney avenue.

One hundred and fifty men of St. Mary Catholic church attended exercises in observance of the Day of Recollection, sponsored by Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus.

Revival services at Oakland Evangelical church closed with a total of 210 persons having responded to the altar calls during the three weeks of meetings.

A large party of members of the Hawaiian band conducted by Thomas Finch, Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor of the First United Brethren church and the U. B. Male quartet directed by B. K. Hill gave a two-hour program at the London Prison farm.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Dec. 12, 1927.

Canton, China, was in a state of revolt and under complete control of thousands of avowedly communistic rebels who attacked government buildings, ousted officials, killed and wounded hundreds of soldiers and announced that they would form a "red government."

Harry Zillick of Toledo, charged with participation in the $175,000 Galion Commercial bank holdup the preceding June, went on trial in the Crawford county common pleas court at Bucyrus.

Mrs. Murray Powers was hostess when the Delphian club entertained with a guest party at her home on Forest street.

Mrs. Raymond Irvin was elected president at a meeting of the Daughters of Luther class of Emanuel Lutheran Sunday school at the home of Misses Ethel and Kathryn Lenz on West Columbia street.

A warning to shoplifters was issued by Prosecutor Carter M. Patton of the municipal court when he assured members of a special committee from the Retail Merchants bureau that no leniency would be shown to those preying on the retail stores of the city.

John Marshman, head of the department of oratory at Ohio Wesleyan university, was guest speaker at the annual banquet of members of the Marion County Ministerial association and their wives held at the First Reformed church.

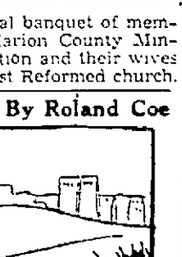
Raids on the Ruble

By Raymond Moley

WHEN savings accumulate, Communists apparently decay. That is one explanation of recent rumors of Russian ruble troubles.

It would be unwise to draw too many conclusions from what we now know of runs on banks and stores in the Soviet Union. Those reports came suddenly and were first broadcast by the state department's Voice of America program. It is strange that more evidence has not come from neutral countries such as Sweden, whose businessmen travel to and from Russia with relative freedom.

Nor would it be wise to assume that such a currency upset in Russia means internal collapse. It has none of the implications which would be present in a capitalist country. It may even be a calculated part of government policy which, under the iron controls of Communism, can be carried out with safety to the ruling group.



MOLEY

Happened Before

Twice the rulers of the Soviet carried out a ruthless depreciation of the currency for economic and social purposes. From 1918 to 1921 a systematic inflation was brought about. It was called "devaluating capital to expropriate capitalists."

In 1932 and 1933 the currency was again depreciated to reduce consumption and thus to build up more production capital.

In a sense, it is like a farmer's way with some weeds. It is figured that by successive cutting down of all capital growths, the time will come when they will never sprout again.

Shortly before the war the Soviets admitted that private individuals could own more money than before. Bank accounts were permitted to reach as high as 10,000 rubles, which was then equal in purchasing power to $5,000 or $6,000. People were also permitted to purchase small houses in the neighborhood of large cities. During the war, savings no doubt accumulated in the hands of stay-at-homes.

Moreover, during the war those at home could buy very little because of scarcities, and that tended to enlarge savings. The increase in that "dangerous" thing called capital has probably frightened the orthodox Marxists and rulers of the governing machine.

There is some reason to believe that the details of a new installment of the five-year plan have leaked out or have been made public and that the plan is to provide fewer consumer goods. If capital goods are to be stressed, there would be a consequent effort by all those who have savings to get consumer necessities while they are still available.

There is also a possibility that heavier expenditures for armament and a consequent reduction of the already slim standard of living are scheduled. And there are also reports that the tall talk by Russian leaders has precipitated a real war scare.

It is clear that Soviet trade with the satallites behind the iron curtain has been disappointing. Moreover, the expected reparations from Germany have not been forthcoming. And most of the heavy equipment taken from Germany and Manchuria is probably rusting along the railroads.

It is altogether a dreary outlook for the mass of Russians. But they can do nothing but endure it.

Repartee

A little question and answer session between a banana peddler and a federal judge at Houston, Tex., ended in a 0 to 0 tie.

"How many stars in the flag?" the judge asked the peddler, who wanted to become a United States citizen.

The man thought hard for a moment.

"Don't know," he said.

The judge started to dismiss the peddler when he interrupted.

"Wait a minute, judge," he said, "How many bananas on a stalk?"

"I'm afraid I don't know," said the judge.

"See, said the peddler, "bananas is my business. The flag is your business.

The judge advised the peddler to study American history.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Man Who Made a Better Mousetrap

"And how are things as of December?" we asked the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap.

"Looking up," he admitted. "At last I have hit on a solution to all my problems. The better mousetrap idea is old stuff. I am making just an ordinary mousetrap but going in for what really sells things."

"What is that?" we asked.

The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap handed us a long list headed, we observed, by an ivory-bodied beachwagon, two jewel-studded seaplanes, a 32-acre estate at Palm Beach, six Arabian horses (in matched colors), a hunting lodge in Canada, a 38-foot yacht, and the royal suite on the Queen Mary for the seasons 1947 to 49.

"That's nothing," he put in. "Keep reading."

We did so and noticed the sum of $25,000 in cash, a contract to do any house over inside and out, fitting it with solid silver door knobs; two television sets, a half mile ocean front at Malibu Beach and a portable orchid greenhouse.

"My radio program," he explained. "It's to be called 'The Who Is Mister Pipe Down Program' or 'The Mystery Chuckles.' We pick out somebody who recites a few lines of verse which is a clue to his identity. Then we just pile on more prizes at each broadcast. What do you think of the Netherlands East Indies?"

"You mean for a vacation trip?"

"Oh no. I mean for a radio program prize."

"Wouldn't India be better?"

"We've got India," said the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap.

"How about the Freedom Train?"

"We are negotiating for that, and say we barely missed getting the Food Train. Some fellow insisted that it had been previously spoken for."

"Any cash money prizes?"

"Oh, just $10,000. People don't go for money the way they used to. It's lost its mass appeal. Goods are what count. If this program goes over well I am going to start another guessing contest and put up a cattle ranch, all of Grand Rapids and I. J. Fox in person."

"You should sell a lot of mousetraps," we admitted.

"Listen, my worries are over. I'm in. These prize programs of real size do it. Path to my door my eye! Know what I'm building?"

"What?"

"Six five-lane highways," he concluded.

Concerning Uncle George

By Martin R. Miller

Another of the Twills of whom something should be said is Uncle George of Cotton Corners, whose cracker-barrel philosophy is a hebdomadal feature of The Star's editorial page. Just a minute until I look up hebdomadal. "Happening once every seven days." Okay.

Every village and rural neighborhood has a counterpart of Uncle George Twill—or is the poorer for lacking one. He is a combination parson, squire and jack of all trades. He can take charge at a fire or barn-raising, is a pillar of strength when the epizootic strikes the farm animals, and is a handy man to have around at lambing time.

Uncle George is of stock which came to the Western Reserve by way of Boston, Great Barrington and Clinton's Big Ditch. George's mother was a Cadwallader, prettiest girl around Jamestown, N. Y., when Lafe Twill—that was George's father—saw her and liked her and brought her back to Cotton Corners as Mrs. Twill. Uncle George's wife is the former Samantha Risley from up the road—prettiest girl within a day's drive of Cotton Corners. All the Twills like 'em pretty.

When Uncle George inherited the farm, it already had been known for decades as "the Twill place." Uncle George has kept it a going concern. His Angus cattle have won blue ribbons at state and county fairs. In his younger days he raised gamecocks and peacocks as a hobby. Years ago he raised a bald eagle which was exhibited at many northern Ohio fairs. Uncle George sold that bird for $75 in the days when $75 was a real parcel of pelf. In 1922 the National Poultry Journal devoted two and one-half pages to his Barred Rocks.

In the winter he used to have the fastest cutter in these parts. It was drawn by a high-stepping standardbred, name of Lily Patches, who once won the free-for-all pace at the Piqua Trots. She could have gone on to bigger races, but Uncle George wasn't interested—just wanted a real race.

Years when crops were poor and money was scarce, Uncle George used to take to the road selling windmills, pumps and lightning rods, some of which are still in use after 30 years. When circuit-riding pastors would fail to show up at Cotton Corners in the old days, Uncle George would take charge of the service and do a mighty good job. Folks still speak of the quality of his sermons.

For five years he was constable of Cotton Corners and played in the Cotton Corners Cornet Band. Nights after band practice he would cut the hair of any who needed it. All agreed there wasn't a better haircut to be had, not even at the Euclid House in Cleveland.

Uncle George holds patents on a funnel-cream separators and a wooden downspout made of creosoted cedar. Neither has been profitable, but he still thinks both ideas are basically sound.

Uncle George now stays at home most of the time, full of years and experience. He indites a weekly dispatch to his nephew and hands out advice to those who come seeking it—and there are quite a few. His philosophy of life is simple. It's just this: We can't all be smart, but we must remember that each of us is his brother's keeper and must be solicitous for his welfare.

OHIA FARM TAXES REACH NEW HIGH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 12 — Tax Levies on farm real estate in Ohio are the highest per acre since the early '30s but the lowest in terms of land valuation since prior to World War One, government surveys showed today

A new report by the department of agriculture says Ohio farmlands were assessed 79 cents per acre in 1946, compared to a national average of 46 cents, and 71 cents per $100 in valuation, against a national figure of 90 cents

Sixteen states last year showed a higher levy per acre than the Buckeye state but only 15 had a lower assessment on the valuation basis.

The taxes per acre in the state increased six cents per acre, or slightly more than eight per cent over 1945, compared to a national increase of 12 per cent

The higher levy continued a steady trend upward since 1935 when it amounted to 65 cents per acre in the state The levy was $1.36 per acre in 1930, $1.31 in 1925, $1.07 in 1920 and 47 cents average in the 1909-13 period

The assessment per $100 in value has decreased steadily in Ohio since 1930, when it was $1.90 The levy per $100 was $1.53 in 1925, $1.11 in 1920 and 86 cents average in the 1909-13 era

The index of real estate taxes per acre for the United States, using 1909-13 as a base of 100 advanced from 199 in 1945 to 222 in 1946, the largest increase since 1920, bringing the index to its highest point since 1931, the bureau of agricultural economics said.

The index figure for Ohio last year was 169, compared to 157 the year before, also the highest since 1931 The increase in the state was the largest in one year since that time.

NICHOLS' ATTORNEYS FILE FOR NEW TRIAL

By The United Press

LIMA, O., Dec. 12— Defense attorneys filed a motion for a new trial for Lester Nichols, 42, of Silver Lake, Ind., who Wednesday night was found guilty of the first-degree murder of his aged father-in-law, Rev. Lewis Whittaker.

Judge M. B. Jenkins set next Monday for hearing on the motion, which asked that Nichols be given a new trial on the basis of eight alleged irregularities.

The jury that found Nichols guilty of the slaying of the Rev. Whittaker, 76, last May 6, did not recommend mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

The motion for a new trial was based primarily on the claim that the state had failed to prove that the slaying was premeditated and deliberate. The defense lawyers also claimed that one juror had admitted that the verdict was "his verdict but not his opinion."

last night it had received information that "neo-fascist" groups would attempt to break the strike today.

The chamber said it would not "be responsible for the consequences."

Security Forces Increased

One well-informed source said the security forces in the capital and province had been augmented by 12,000 to 15,000 men, including special riot police from Naples. The interior ministry declined comment on this report, which, if true, would mean that security forces on duty would number about 67,000 men.

The strike tied up everything in the city and province of Rome except essential services and the railroads, which continued to run on schedule.

Scarlet Fever Halts LaRue Recreations

As a precautionary measure against the spread of scarlet fever in the LaRue area, all recreational activities, including the basketball game scheduled for tonight at Green Camp have been canceled.

Plans are being discussed about the necessity of closing the schools to prevent the spread of the illness. Today 108 pupils, approximately 30 per cent of the total enrollment, were absent. To date there are 25 children under quarantine. However, some are merely under observation.

Move for Shappard Dismissal

sheriff and law officers had with the defendant prior to and after the confession was made.

Asked if there was any further conversation than what had already been given in testimony Retterer admitted Snappard had been asked whether or not he had attempted to rape the girl.

Asks for Mistrial

Carhart immediately entered a motion for a mistrial as at no time previously had testimony of this nature been introduced. His motion was denied by the court. On further questioning it was disclosed that Shappard had not been specifically advised of his right to refuse to make a statement and also that Shappard had not had benefit of an attorney from the time he was first questioned as a suspect until after his arraignment on the first degree murder indictment.

Sheriff Retterer repeated his previous testimony that Shappard had voluntarily offered to make his statement.

Carhart then released the witness and the state called Merle Hughes, Marion mortician to the stand. Hughes identified the photos taken at the spot where the body was found and at his mortuary. On direct examination he affirmed a similarity between the shape of the hole in left front side of the skull to the size of the head of the hammer entered as evidence by the state.

Hughes also testified that the lower part of the slip found on the body was missing when he looked at the body prior to removal to his mortuary.

Distance Measured

Marion county Engineer Walter W. Johnson was next called to the stand and testified that he measured the distance from the spot in the underbrush where the girl's body was found to the center of the county-line road. He said the distance was 16 feet. Asked in what township in Delaware county the body was found, he said he did not know.

Dr. E. H. Morgan, Marion county coroner, concluded the list of witnesses for the state. His testimony brought out the fact that no post mortem had been conducted on the body. Dr. Morgan said the body was too badly decomposed. He said death was caused by a badly fractured skull.

On cross examination, it was stated that no autopsy was ordered by the county prosecutor. Attorney Ralph Carhart submitted the death certificate signed by Dr. Morgan as Exhibit 1 for the defense. The certificate listed Marlborough township, Delaware county, as the place in which the death occurred.

Jury Removed

After a brief recess at 10:30 a. m. the state asked for admission of its exhibits as evidence. Objection was made by Ralph Carhart, who asked that the jury removed while argument was conducted on the admission of evidence.

The court granting the motion, the jury was directed to the jury room while the state offered its exhibits as evidence. All exhibits were admitted and included the articles of clothing, the box in which they were packed by mortician Hughes, the hammer and the three photographs taken at the scene and at the mortuary.

Carhart objected to the submission of the photographs as evidence by the state, on the grounds that they were prejudicial against the defendant and were not of the immediate circumstances surrounding the case. The court overruled the objection. All other exhibits went unchallenged by the defense counsel.

The state then rested its case.

Yesterday Afternoon's Session

Three dramatic highlights came in the trial yesterday afternoon when witnesses identified the carpenter's claw hammer, the state contends Shappard used to kill Roxie, pointed to a torn slip found on the girl's body and read into the record a 16-page statement in which the defendant admitted the killing.

Witnesses of the state for these developments were Sheriff Retterer and Deputy Edward Fink.

Deputy Fink was called by the state after Dale Hughes, Marion photographer, gave brief testimony regarding pictures of the dead girl he took where the body was found.

Fink's testimony dealt largely with the 10-day investigation which led to the finding of Roxie's body and the subsequent arrest of Shappard.

An Early Suspect

He related that officers from the sheriff's office first talked to Shappard on Sunday, Sept. 21, the second day ater the girl disappeared while on her way home from Prospect where she had left a school bus after returning from a football game at Chesterville.

Shappard was first considered as a suspect because he owned a 1928 model A Ford coach which tallied with a car seen traveling over route 47 about the time the girl disappeared.

Fink testified that he found Shappard on that Sunday afternoon sitting at the home of his parents in Prospect. The deputy said he called him from the house and asked him to get in his car.

The officers then drove back of the Prospect school building where they could talk without being observed.

First Defense Objection

At this point Defense Attorney Ralph Carhart raised the first of numerous objections to the manner in which Fink was responding to direct examination by Assistant Prosecutor Wilhelm. He insisted that Fink confine his testimony actually to conversation between the officers and Shappard. The objection was allowed by Judge Smith.

Fink then continued, saying he told Shappard that Roxie Green had disappeared. "I ask him where he was on the afternoon of Sept. 19 and he said he was at work at the Scioto Ordnance Plant."

Fink related Shappard told him that after leaving work at 3:30 p. m. he and several other men went to the Silver bar (actually it was the Crystal bar as later testimony revealed) and had several beers.

From the bar, Fink said Shappard explained he had driven to Blanche's place at Newmans on the Prospect road where he had another beer.

After arriving at home, Fink said Shappard told him he took his wife and one child to drive four or five miles southeast of Prospect in an attempt to borrow some rollers for moving a building.

Unable to get the equipment he returned to Prospect, taking his wife to her parents' home.

Attended Dance

Fink said Shappard told him that later in the evening he and his wife went home, changed clothes and went to a dance at the Herman Irey road house on route 98 north of Waldo.

In response to a question by Wilhelm, Fink said Shappard denied seeing Roxie on route 47 while he drove into the country for the rollers.

Later Fink said, he saw Shappard again and asked him to repeat the story. The deputy said the story checked except for one fact. This time Shappard told him that after he took his wife to her parents home he drove up town in Prospect and parked in front of a grocery store. He sat there for a considerable time, saw no one he knew and no one saw him, Fink quoted Shappard as saying.

The "Missing Hour"

(This was the hour or more the officers could not account for in checking on Shappard's activities while they were making their investigation of the girl's disappearance. As shown in Shappard's confession it was during this time the girl was killed and her body dumped along the road east of Norton).

Fink testified he asked Shappard why he didn't tell him about parking at the store when he first talked to him and quoted Shappard as saying "he didn't think about it."

Fink said Shappard told him he and his wife went to the dance about 9:30 p. m. and returned about 2 a. m.

Wilhelm then directed the examination of Fink over evidence which also was covered when Sheriff Retterer took the stand.

Both officers related how Shappard had been asked to come to the sheriff's office on Sunday, Sept. 28, and how he appeared there voluntarily about 10 a. m.

They said they had talked with Shappard for several hours in the presence of two Toledo police officers. During the course of their questioning Shappard, they said, told them he might be able to find the body in Carter's woods, a large tract of timber southeast of Prospect.

Search Made in Woods

Both related how they, together with Prosecuting Attorney Reed and the Toledo officers left for the woods about 12:30 a. m. Monday morning. Shappard, they said, led the way and took them into the center of the woods but they found nothing. They returned to Marion about 2 a. m.

After returning to the county jail, both officers testified, Shappard said that he might be able to remember more if he had a good night's sleep. He was locked up in a cell alone.

When Sheriff Retterer took the stand he told of his first conversation with Shappard on Monday morning, Sept. 29. He said when he first saw Shappard he asked if his wife would be brought to Marion from Prospect.

Mrs. Shappard was brought here by Deputy Fink, the sheriff said, and after she and her husband were alone for a few minutes Shappard indicated he was ready to talk.

The sheriff related a brief statement in which Shappard admitted killing Roxie and revealed the location of the body. He was taken at once to the county jail office.

Fink testified that at the time the statement was taken he was taking Mrs. Shappard back to Prospect.

Shows Way To Body

Retterer said that after the statement was taken he and Prosecutor Reed, with Shappard giving directions, left for the spot east of Norton where the body was found.

Retterer related how Shappard told the prosecutor to drive slowly as they neared the spot 1.7 miles east of Norton where the body was found.

"It ought to be right along here," Retterer quoted Shappard. Finally he pointed to the body lying on a low roadside bank partially covered by weeds and brush.

Considerable testimony concerning the removal of the body, the calling of the Delaware county sheriff was interjected at this point.

Hammer Found

Retterer then told of the search for the hammer with Shappard assisting. It was found, the sheriff said, some distance to the east of where the body was found and on the opposite side of the road.

The sheriff said the hammer showed a fresh crack in the handle and that hair was clinging to the claw head. Shappard, he said, admitted the hammer was his.

Considerable time was required yesterday afternoon for the reading by Sheriff Retterer of the 16-page typewritten statement taken later at the county jail by Court Stenographer Robert Hedges with Prosecutor Reed interrogating Shappard. The sheriff identified the signature to the statement as Shappard's.

The statement dealt with numerous details already covered in the testimony.

The statement traced Shappard's movements from the time he left his wife at her parents' home until he returned to get her to go to the dance.

Tells of Meeting Roxie

In question and answer form the statement revealed that Shappard drove past Roxie as she walked home along route 47 only a short distance from the Lauer road on which she lived. Shappard admitted that he drove past the girl, turned around and went back, then turned again until he was again headed in the same direction she was walking.

He offered to give her a lift home and she got on the left running board. There was no conversation, except when Shappard asked her where she lived.

On reaching the Green home, nearly a mile from route 97, Roxie jumped from the car. Shappard continued to the first farm drive way and turned his car. When he came back he found the girl lump as a rag. It was at this spot her shoe, purse and hair ribbon were found.)

He said he put her in the car, intending to take her to a physician in Delaware. He drove back to route 97, east to the Rittenhouse road, turned south to the Norton-Westfield road and then east toward Norton.

Before reaching Norton Roxie "came to" and began "Yapping," he related. In the statement Shappard said "she threatened to get me for kidnaping."

Attacks With Hammer

Shappard drove east across route 23 leading to Delaware, to a spot east of Norton on the Norton-Westfield road. He stopped the car. Roxie still was raising a fuss. She got out and Shappard followd her. He reached into the rear seat and got a hammer with which he hit her over the head two or three times. After she went down he drugged her body up on the bank and drove on east, throwing the hammer out of the car after getting under way.

The statement wound up his activities by revealing he stopped in Waldo to buy a half dozen bottles of beer, drank two and then drove back to Prospect to get his wife and go to the dance.

With the reading of the statement out of the way the sheriff was asked to identify articles of clothing taken from the body of the girl. One was a slip, of which about half the skirt was torn away. The sheriff testified he had not been able to find the remainder of the garment.

Tells of Decision To Kill ..

Both Fink and Retterer testified Shappard told them he determined to kill the girl before he reached route 23, over which he said he would have traveled to take the girl to a Delaware physician.

The only cross examination conducted by Defense Attorney Ralp Carhart yesterday afternoon was of Deputy Fink. Court adjourned for the afternoon with the completion of the prosecution's examination of Sheriff Retterer.

Carhart asked whether Shappard had an attorney at any time while he was making his signed statement or at his arraignment in municipal court. Fink answered that he did not. To another question Fink answered that Shappard said he did not want an attorney and asked only that a Prospect minister be called.

Carhart also went into the question of whether Shappard told him he visited the Silver or Crystal bar. Fink answered that "he said the Silver or Crystal bar. Anyway it was the Truman bar."

APPEALS FOR PEACE. Hope for an end to the violence in the Holy Land is seen in the written appeal of Dr. Yussuf Haikal (above), Arab mayor of Jaffa, to Israel Rokach, Jewish mayor of nearby Tel Aviv, urging a truce. The letter was sent by armored car after the British issued a "shoot on sight" order to troops patroling the "no-man's-land" that lies between the two cities.

Clayton graduated from Miami university, Oxford, O., in 1932 and served as superintendent of schools at New Lebanon, O., before becoming a member of the Ohio State faculty. He will receive his doctor's degree in March, 1948.

Dr. Bixler has served as interim head of Ashland college for the last three years.

Most of the loss to the company, the Bonded Scale & Equipment Co., was in stock and tools, he said, with the one-story concrete block building accounting for $75,000. Gluck said the plant would be rebuilt.

JEWISH COMMANDO ATTACK KILLS 12

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Dec. 12—Jewish commandoes attacked the village of Tireh near Haifa today with grenades and automatic weapons, killing 12 Arabs and wounding six. This brought to 185 the Holy Land death toll since partition was voted.

The best available information was that the Jewish groups were squads of the Irgun Zvai Leumi and Stern group. They went into action from Haifa to Hebron.

Some authorities expressed belief that Jewish bands appeared to be opening a widespread offensive against Arab masses opposing a division of the country.

Major Provisions In Foreign Aid Bill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Here are the essential points of the $590,000,000 foreign aid bill passed by the house yesterday:

1. Forbid paying more than prevailing prices for relief supplies bought in this country.

2. Direct the President to issue regulations for the program designed to ease the drain on American resources and the pressure for higher prices.

3. Halt at once any relief to a country whose government comes under Russian or Communist party domination.

4. Bar distribution of relief commodities by Communists.

5. Order government agencies, mainly the commodity credit corporation, to sell for foreign relief the surplus foods bought under federal price support programs. Under a price arrangement in the amendment, CCC officials have figured this will up the cost of the aid program by $50,000,000 or more. Taber said $100,000,000.

6. Require the government to see to it that this country has 150,000,000 bushels of wheat in reserve next July 1 unless an official forecast May 1 puts the winter wheat crop above 700,000,000 bushels and spring wheat planting at normal. Rep. Fulton (R-Pa) said the amendment was the equivalent of killing the bill.

7. Permit creation of a senate-house committee to keep tab on distribution of aid.

approximately 50,000 bushels. Because of carrying out my agreement to liquidate, I am currently more than $100,000 worse off than if I had retained the grain.

"I have not had any connection or information relating to any Army transactions in listed commodities. In fact, Mr. Royall in my presence issued specific instructions to my executive officer that in order to avoid possible embarrassment and complications that no matters which might come in the office relating to transactions in these items would come to my attention but would be referred to others in the department. As a matter of fact, I have not determined what to buy, or when to buy, anything for the Army during the time I have been with them and have not participated in any transaction relating to any purchases of anything with the sole exception that in one instance I passed on a controversy between two bidders on a fish contract."

The former Democratic national treasurer acknowledged his trading in advance of his appearance, but insisted the transactions have been "perfectly proper and ethical."

Pauley described his dealings as a hedge against inflation and asserted that more people ought to be buying commodities for the same reason.

Meanwhile Bridges told newsmen he is asking "every government department or agency having to do with the purchasing of any commodities" whether any of their employes are using inside information on government purchasing plans to profit on the market. Bridges said the committee has "heard many rumors" that such is the case.

SEEK PALESTINE FUND

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 12—American Jewry was asked today to provide $283,156,000 for aid to Palestine in 1948, a sum that would earmark $28,000,000 for the purchase of arms to equip a Judean army of "tens of thousands of men."

Cold Weather Hits Most of Country

By The Associated Press

Generally cold weather spread over most of the country today, ranging from below zero in parts of the midwest to below freezing in central Texas and chilly in sections of northern Florida and southern California.

The federal weather bureau in Chicago said temperatures would climb in the southern areas and in California but readings of slightly below normal would continue in most other sections.

MURDER

the bridge and police said the slayer apparently was trying to dump the body into the creek spanned by the bridge.

Marshal Talaway now believes the veiled comments of the two boys frightened the slayer into abandoning that effort and leave the body sprawled on the bridge itself.

Rice's car was found, soon after he was reported missing by his wife, on a downtown street. Its back seat was covered with blood.

The real estate operator, who wanted to dispose of his automobile privately, may have been the victim of his own gun, a 32 caliber revolver found in the back seat of his abandoned automobile. Police said they believed the weapon was used for the kill, but they have not definitely established that belief as a fact last night.

The search for a tall, middle-aged man with a black mustache continued, apparently without immediate success. City, county and state police worked with the Franklin county prosecutor's office. Three suspects were taken into custody yesterday. One had a mustache.

Mrs. Rice told police the prospective buyer came to their home in a taxicab and agreed to pay cash if he liked the machine "after a short spin."

Polio-Stricken Opera Star Sings Standing

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—Marjorie Lawrence, noted Metropolitan Opera soprano, who is crippled by infantile paralysis, sang an operatic concert last night while standing.

Ever since she was stricken with infantile paralysis in Mexico in 1941 the Australian-born diva has had to sing from a reclining position on a couch or from a chair.

Last night at Orchestra hall she sang the title role in the Richard Strauss opera, "Elektra," accompanied by the Chicago Symphony orchestra. She stood throughout the performance with only a railing for support.

ERROR IN REPORT

Through an error in reporting a traffic accident printed in last night's Star, details of the collision were incorrect. The cars involved in the accident were driven by Kathryn J. Buck, 29, of 123 Selby court and Charles Carey Boyd, 70, of 616 Wilson avenue. the mishap, caused by icy streets, occurred at Mt. Vernon and Cummins avenues. The Boyd car, headed south on Cummins was waiting at the intersection when the Buck car started to make a left turn from Mt. Vernon avenue. In Thursday's issue, the situation was incorrectly reversed.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I looked at each oth- ...ful confirmation of ... our small daugh- ...ame into the living ...e Katharine and ...ere laughing heartily ...e threw herself into ...ues in memory of ...nursery school com- ...that she calls their ex-ercises,' emphasiz- ...ple impartially ...ying me," Mary told ...ughed until my sides ... her Aunt Katharine ... or two"

"The elephant's shoulder," ... as he marched around ... Up on the elephant's ... goes the baby girl"

Faith gurgled ecstatically at this reminder of many a babyhood journey she had taken on her father's shoulder to that tune, and then Dicky swung her down, looking at her ruefully, and rubbing his shoulder ostentatiously

'Either I am getting old or you are getting too big for me,' he said "I'll bet I've got a blister

'You're just funning,' Faith told him calmly But, I thank you very much for the ride.'

'You're very welcome" he told her, "and, in turn, I thank you for your overwhelming solicitude for me'

'What do those words mean, Daddy?' she asked, and Katharine chuckled

'It's a long way to the end of the limb, and a mean drop from the end of it,' she informed the surrounding air and Faith turned frowning brows, first on her father, then on Katharine Then she turned, and ran straight to me, with arms clinging ugath

'If you tale, will you say words that I can understand?' she queried

'I'll try to darling" I told her, but you know that you can't always understand what grown-ups say and that you mustn't ask what they mean But I know something that I think you would like to know. Shall I tell you about it"

'Cheater' Dicky accused bitterly But go aneac You got me off the limb, so take your pay'

Faith looked at him apprasingly 'You're funning again,' she said accusingly, then she turned back to me.

'I'd love to know what you know," she said sweetly.

"I know this" I said, "that your daddy is planning a surprise for you, for this morning I think he will tell you about it, if you ask him nicely"

With the insouciant forgetfulness of a grievance which is a child's, she she down from my lap, and rushed over to her father

"Daddy, daddy," she said "What's the surprise""

He countered with another question

"You're going to the hospital with us today, to see Granzie aren't you?"

"Surest thing you know," she answered joyously

"Well' How would you like to go out with me now on a little shopping trip, and buy some flowers and candy to take with us"

Faith began to dance up and down with sheer joy

Will that ever be scrumptious?" she demanded of the surrounding air Then she turned back to her father

'You do think of the nicest things' she told him with a hug

'Thank you,' he told her gravely Then he looked across at me

'How long to get her ready?" he asked

Katharine had been watching Mary's face, and I knew she saw as I did the anxiety of our charge to talk to me

'How about it Madge?" she said casually Youve been going it all the morning Suppose you let me pinch hit for you in getting Faith ready for her exped tion and you can relax and gossip with Mary or just sit and twiddle your thumbs"

"How do you twiddle your thumbs?" Faith demanded

'I'll show you when we get over to your room" Katharine told her and the two departed Faith's hand tucked confidingly in that of my kinswoman

I don't know which is the more blissful," Mary said, looking after them

"No damn it," Dicky said, and I knew the cryptic oath was directed against the fate which had made Katharine childless when she had so much to give a child

He stood up stretching his arms above his head.

'Suppose I go and find out if Katrina has Faiths' hat on straight he said 'I imagine you two could use a little privacy'

WASHINGTON

HERE'S a reminder for taxpayers: Jan. 15, 1948, is a deadline on 1947 income taxes for one out of every five taxpayers.

It's the deadline for those who haven't had the full tax, or any tax, withheld from their 1947 wages or income.

In 1947 most people's income was from wages. And most of them had the full 1947 income tax withheld from them.

If you're in that group—the group from which full tax has been withheld—don't worry about Jan. 15. You'll have to make your final return March 15.

MARLOW

But—

Jan. 15 is the deadline — if it affects you—for filing, changing and paying your declaration of estimated tax for 1947.

(Some people think that deadline is Dec. 15. It isn't. It's Jan. 15).

Here are the people who must do something about their income tax by Jan. 15:

1. Farmers. In 1947 they have not had to do anything about the tax on their 1947 income. They must do it by Jan. 15, 1948.

By that date they must figure their 1947 income—and the tax on it—and by Jan. 15 pay it in full.

2. Those from whose 1947 income no tax has been withheld, such as professional men like doctors, or landlords, and so on.

Last March 15—knowing no tax was to be withheld from their 1947 income—they estimated what that income and the tax on it would be.

AND, BEGINNING LAST March 15, they started paying that tax in quarterly installments. The last quarterly payment is due Jan. 15.

3. Those who had wages from which no tax was withheld, such as servants or farm workers. They must pay their full tax by Jan. 15.

4. Those who had full tax withheld from their wages in 1947 but received more than $100 in outside income from which no tax was withheld.

Such outside income for a wage earner, for example, would be rents, sales, dividends.

5. Those who had some tax, but not all the tax due, withheld from their 1947 wages.

The people in No. 5 should have been paying in quarterly installments the difference between the tax withheld and the total tax due.

(Full tax is withheld on wages up to $5,000, plus $500 for each exemption except yourself. Your wife and child, for example, are exemptions.

6. Those who have been making quarterly payments for the past year but under-estimated their tax by more than 20 per cent.

IF YOU'RE ONE of those, you must make the correction and pay off by Jan. 15. There's a penalty, if you don't.

To repeat: All people mentioned in the six groups above are supposed to pay off by Jan. 15 whatever tax they owe on 1947 income.

You can do it on form 1040-ES or form 1040. If you use form 1040, it can stand as your final return on 1947 income. It will be easier for you.

If you use form 1040-ES, you'll have extra paper work ahead, and for this reason:

On March 15 you'll have to file your final return on form 1040 anyway, even though you file a return Jan. 15 on form 1040-ES.

So using form 1040, instead of 1040-ES, on Jan. 15 will save you the trouble of having to use form 1040 on March 15.

(The people who don't come within the six groups mentioned above will have to file their final return on March 14 on form 1040).

NEW YORK

I AM going to unwrap the old crystal ball and give you an advance look at 1948, trusting that everyone kindly has forgotten that nine days before Hiroshima was wiped out I predicted the Japanese war might last another full year.

The forecast is for a strange and exciting year. In fact, frazzled 1948 will be like 1947 hopped up by vitamins.

Here are the prospects:

Prices will remain a lot higher than skirts. A genuine T-bone steak of pre-war thickness will be exhibited at the American Museum of Natural History and draw thousands of admiring visitors. It will be flanked by two armed guards.

BOYLE

The slogan of single ladies will be "The New Look Before You Leap" at the bachelors they'll have to propose to, since it will be leap year.

But "the new look" won't improve with age, and neither will the ladies who wear it. More and more they will come to realize why an open stadium attracts more people than a tent show.

Santa Claus will pension his reindeer and write an anonymous letter to the newspapers complaining he had to pay $500 over the list price to get him a new automobile.

Somewhere a woman driver will hear a knock in her car's motor, stop, open the hood and see coiled inside—a rattlesnake. (This has happened every year since Henry Ford quit playing marbles.)

A MEMBER OF the National Association of Manufacturers will send John L. Lewis an eyebrow comb, and George Bernard Shaw will again disclaim any responsibility for mankind.

Vaudeville will rise from its grave and parade its creaking bones cross the television screen briefly, then return to the winding sheet of oblivion.

William Saroyan will compose a new play—this time in English—and the critics won't like it because they will be able to understand it.

At the opening of the Metropolitan Opera in Manhattan two society dowagers who spend the evening kicking a football around the bar lounge will lose the front page play to an actress who arrives escorted by a real ape dressed in a tuxedo and wearing a diamond in its forehead.

A jury will set free a man accused of murdering an old friend who insisted on telling three venerable "talking dog" stories in a row.

A MAN WILL GET wealthy by inventing a radio gadget that filters out jokes about why Bing Crosby's racehorses never win.

The "man of the year" will be the one who finds something you can do with a penny besides weigh yourself.

An attempt to return cut plug to popular favor by developing a new "bubble chewing tobacc will fail.

Five foreign nations will of to lend money to the Americ government, but the letters w all be mailed on April Fools d

A musical diaper will be on the market that plays "bre the News to Mother" when baby needs a change.

All in all, however, bears have more fun than people 1948. They hibernate.

What is IT?

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation . . ."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't . . . UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

COST INCREASES VS. RATE INCREASES

Class I Railroads, U. S. (Since 1940)

Increased Wages, Payroll Taxes, Materials $3,029,000,000

Increased Revenues $1,771,000,000

These figures do not include demands of train service organizations for changes in working rules nor for wage increases not already granted.

FORMER RED CROSS WAR WORKER SPEAKS

Mrs Garnet Thomasson Tells Experiences in Europe.

Mrs Garnet Thomasson, who was a Red Cross club director during World War II, at a meeting of the executive board of the Marion chapter of Red Cross at the Wednesday noon luncheon told experiences in the European Theater of Operations.

Serving in England and in each province of Normandy in Paris over a period of two years as club director, returned to this country, went to Germany in 1945 for a year as a staff aid, returning here in October. She said the Red Cross, having fulfilled the wartime need, is gradually withdrawing its overseas personnel.

Don Myers, chairman, presided at the board meeting. Reports were given on November activities. Miss Paula Ramroth, Red Cross secretary, reported on the work of her department and interpreted the types of reporting services which Red Cross will accept as its responsibility under the home service program. In Junior Red Cross work, Mrs. W. K. Hursh, chairman, reported that in Nov. 300 Thanksgiving favors made by Greenmanor, Perry and Morral schools were distributed to local convalescent homes and City hospital. LaRue school turned out 42 soft toy dogs and dolls made by junior members. A course in home nursing is being conducted by Y-Teen girls of Central Junior High school, instructed by Mrs. Robert W. Sollenberger and Mrs. Hazel Turner. It was reported that a similar class of Girl Scouts was organized under instruction of Mrs. Hazel Turner. An adult class in advanced first aid of six members under instruction of George Landon and Nelson Irvin completed the course and received certificates. In home nursing for November, Mrs. F. M. Knapp, chairman, a class of 30 was organized at Central Junior High school under instruction of Mrs. Elaine Beentle and Mrs. Dorothy Lawrence, and plans were discussed for organizing classes in Pleasant Township school and St. Marys school in Marion after Jan. 1. STATE TO GIVE NEWS ON ROAD CONDITION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12—Dr. John D. Porterfield, state director of health announced today the appointment of a 16-member advisory council to assist the health department in the development and administration of a hospital construction program in Ohio.

An inventory of existing hospital facilities in the state has been completed by the health department and it is now making a survey of the need and development of a statewide plan for additional hospital facilities.

The 1947 legislature authorized the health department to draw up a hospital plan so that communities in Ohio may qualify for federal aid to assist in the construction of needed hospital buildings during the next five years.

The federal government has agreed to pay one-third of the cost of building a hospital in any community where additional facilities are needed, provided that the community raise funds to cover the rest of the cost.

Under the federal hospital survey and construction act, communities in Ohio are eligible for total grants of $13,450,000 over a five year period.

Dr. Porterfield will act as ex-officio chairman of the hospital advisory council, recently approved by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert. Charles I. Sherwood, state welfare director, will be an ex-officio member.

NLRB EXAMINER COMING TO GALION

GALION, Dec. 12—The national labor relations board of Cleveland is sending its trial examiner to Galion next Thursday to hold a conference with officials of the North Electric Manufacturing Co. and union representatives. This announcement was made in letters from the NLRB sent to the respective parties involved this week.

The examiner is coming to Galion to investigate the petition made recently to the NLRB by the Independent Workers Union that the union claims a majority membership of union workers and asks that an election to determine the bargaining agent.

This union was a part of Nov. 1 when a 74-day UAW-CIO strike ended at the North Electric plant. An agreement signed by the North Company and UAW when the strike ended Nov. 1 provided for a consensus of CIO membership pledge cards signed between periods of May 19 and before the strike was called.

The consensus was counted one morning at the plant by Herbert Verne E. Waglaw of Columbus representing the United States Vocational and Conciliation Service of Washington, D. C. Ward who has been interviewing makers of the pledge cards in the presence of two observers, Rev. Father William J. Spackman of Marion, chosen by the CIO and Rev. Norman R. Somerville of Galion selected by the company. Only about 20 employes were interviewed yesterday.

FERTILIZER NEED ON FARMS AT NEW HIGH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — Farmers throughout the world need more fertilizer than they are getting this year, the department of agriculture reported yesterday.

The department filed a report entitled "The Fertilizer Situation for 1947-48" with a house agriculture subcommittee holding hearings on fertilizer production and distribution. The fertilizer year began July 1.

The report, including surveys by the departments of commerce, interior and army, says:

"The need for greater food production and replacement of soil fertility lost during the war years has created the greatest demand for commercial fertilizers in history. Production of the three major fertilizer ingredients, nitrogen, phosphate and potash, is the greatest it has ever been. Yet worldwide supplies are below requirements, and nitrogen materials are critically short of needs.

"World requirements for nitrogen during 1947-48 are more than 50 per cent greater than prewar. The nitrogen shortage will be felt in every country that uses commercial fertilizers.

"The United States and its possessions has available during this period more fertilizer than ever before—about twice the prewar quantities. This includes four per cent more nitrogen, five per cent more potash and six per cent more phosphate than for the same period last year, but is not enough for farmers' requirements," according to the surveys.

"MINOR" NAZIS GET OUT OF PUNISHMENT

By The Associated Press

HAMBURG, GERMANY, Dec. 12—The little Nazi bosses—Gestapo thugs, leadership corps opportunists, bullies of the SS and SD—have been dodging the punishment decreed for them by the international tribunal at Nuernberg.

Hundreds of them, tried by German tribunals in the British zone for membership in organizations branded as criminal by Nuernberg, have received only nominal sentences and fines.

Even so, owing to the way the tribunals allow for the period they have spent in internment, many of them have no further imprisonment to serve or any actual cash to pay towards their fines.

This situation was described by a report of the legal division of the British control commission on the progress of "Operation Old Lace"—the whimsical title given to the handling of about 25,000 cases of membership of criminal organizations by about 100 specially constituted German tribunals.

The report disclosed that only one of the thousands tried had received the maximum 10-year sentence and commented:

"Concern is felt, however, by the central legal office, by the majority of the prosecutors and by this division at the apparent leniency of certain of the sentences and at the over-generous reckonability against sentence of the period already spent in interment. This concern is also reflected in the German press."

An analysis of sentences showed that 20.1 per cent were acquitted while only 0.6 per cent received more than three years' imprisonment. Sentences of between two and three years imprisonment were 1.2 per cent while 6.45 per cent received between one and two years.

MORE STEEL IS ON THE WAY

ONE BILLION DOLLARS

Worth of New Plant Capacity Is Being Added

STEEL production in 1947 is breaking records.

More than 7,564,000 tons of ingots were turned out in October, which is more than the average monthly output during the peak year of World War II.

Total tonnage for this year will be 87,000,000 tons more than the record for any previous peacetime year. This has been accomplished despite shortages and poor quality of raw materials, particularly scrap and fuels.

The mills are going at high speed now, and more production is on the way.

Steel companies are spending more than one billion dollars to expand and improve their plants. Over 2,500,000 tons of new steelmaking capacity is being added.

Demand still is great and some shortages still exist. But production is catching up as rapidly as possible. Every month there is more steel for the things you want.

HISTORIC ELECTION SET IN VENEZUELA

By The Associated Press

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 12—A million or more Venezuelans are expected to vote Sunday in the first direct election of a president and congress in Venezuela's 137 years as a nation.

Universal suffrage prevails for the first time. Anyone over 18, whether literate or not, is eligible to vote if registered.

The president will be chosen for a five-year term. Similar terms will be served by senators and deputies. Municipal councils also will be chosen.

Three candidates are running for president. They are Romulo Gallegos, 63, head of Accion Democratica, the majority party; Rafael Caldera, 31, leader of the opposition party, Copey; and Gustavo Machado, 49, candidate of the Communists.

Gallegos is the heavy favorite. His party polled approximately a million votes in the constituent assembly election a year ago. Opposition groups mustered only about a third of that number.

The winner not only will be the first president to be chosen by secret, direct popular vote but the first constitutional president since October 1945 when a revolution exiled President Isaias Medina Angarita.

Since then Venezuela has been ruled by a junta headed by President Romulo Betancourt. Fulfilling a pledge made immediately after the revolution, the junta provided for election of a constitutional president and its members refrained from becoming candidates.

If Gallegos is elected he is expected to continue the policies of the interim regime.

The contest is between Accion Democratica, considered left of center and Copey, representing the extreme right. Communists are not expected to poll more than 50,000 votes and the fourth principal party, Union Republicana Democratica, has no presidential candidaate.

The veterans administration will pay the remainder of the costs, at the end of each instruction period.

When Polio Occurs in Mild Form

Public health officials, who are always concerned about the extent and spread of any disease which may affect large communities, have for a long time suspected that infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis is a much more common disease than is generally believed.

During the summer and fall of 1945 and in the same period of 1946, the Chicago Health Department carried out studies which not only tend to confirm this idea but which also may point the way to better control of the disease.

As a result of this work it seems definitely established that infantile paralysis frequently occurs in a very mild form. In fact, the symptoms may be so mild that it is difficult to make a diagnosis.

For example, a patient may only have a little stiffness of the muscles of the neck and back, a slight fever and headache, without the development of paralysis. Other cases may have vomiting, but all of these mild symptoms seem to clear up rapidly.

It is entirely probable that many people have had a mild form of poliomyelitis some time during their lives and were never aware of the infection. In fact, there are many who believe that this disease in its mild form may be as common as any of the other "catching" diseases, such as chicken-pox or measles.

The studies which were made also seem to show that children in intimate contact with a person three days before to three days after he develops poliomyelitis are likely to contract the disease if they had not had it before. The large majority of those who do get the condition, as I have mentioned, have it in the mild form without any paralysis.

It is interesting to note that in all of the cases studied, only about two out of every hundred have paralysis from which they do not recover completely. In other words, it seems evident that about 98 per cent of poliomyelitis is a widespread, mild, "catching" disease of young children which leaves no paralysis, and that not more than one child out of forty or fifty is affected with permanent paralysis.

These facts point to certain precautions which might do much to keep an outbreak of the disease confined to a small area.

If all children exposed to a known case of infantile paralysis were isolated for a period up to two weeks, many other youngsters would be spared contact with it. Mild, unrecognized cases could not then pass the disease on to others who might have it in its more serious forms. Thus, it might be that disastrous epidemics might be stopped almost before they got started.

Taking the temperature of these exposed children each day would help to diagnose poliomyelitis early, should it develop.

This year the number of cases of poliomyelitis which have occurred are far less than in the last four or five years. It is, of course, impossible to predict just when another widespread epidemic of the disease may develop. In the meantime, research is continuing in an effort to find ways and means for preventing and curing this disease.

Questions and Answers

Mrs. P.: About three months ago a bald spot about the size of a half dollar appeared near the crown of my head. What is the cause of this condition?

Answer: It is likely that you have what is known as alopecia areata.

The exact cause of this condition is not known. There are two theories, both of which may be correct. One points to a parasite; the other to a neurotic origin.

DEMOCRATS BELIEVE WALLACE WILL BOLT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The Democratic leadership gave up about its last hope today that Henry A. Wallace could be persuaded not to endanger President Truman's 1948 election prospects by bolting and running on a third party ticket.

A cryptic "that's his privilege" was the retort of Senator McGrath (D), chairman of the Democratic national committee, to Wallace's Buffalo, N. Y., assertion that if it came to a choice between President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) he would vote for Taft.

From the Democratic organization standpoint this put Wallace, former vice president and Roosevelt cabinet member, about as far beyond the pale as he can go without actually announcing that he himself is going to run as an independent.

The Democratic national committee for months has leveled most of its fire at Taft. A recent party publication contended, for instance, that the Ohio senator represents the body of Republican thinking and ought to be the G.O.P. nominee.

At his Buffalo news conference yesterday, Wallace also mentioned Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, another potential G.O.P. candidate, comparing him with Mr. Truman.

"I hesitate to say whether Dewey is a watered-down version of Truman or the President is a watered-down version of Dewey," he said.

Some Democrats commented privately that if Wallace hadn't already made up his mind to bolt, he hardly would go around making statements.

Wallace's left-handed endorsement was publicly greeted only with laughter in the Taft camp.

Taft, an announced candidate for the G.O.P. nomination, was silent himself. But there were indications his friends would have been better pleased if Wallace had picked some one else as his favorite Republican candidate.

The group is composed of Polly Biggert, Mary Ellen Hinamon, Betty Weiser, Yvonnne Metzger, Rose Marie Hinamon, Dorotha Rhoades, Marporie Middleton, Nancy Anthony and Joyce Snyder, accompanied by Ann Ferguson.

An announcement was made regarding the Kiwanis members who will man a Salvation Army kettle for one day, Saturday, Dec. 20, in cooperation with the annual project of the service clubs A. T. Allen is in charge of the Kiwanis kettle.

Santa and the GOOD BOY

BY LUCILLE MILLNER

CHAPTER EIGHT

Tom Goes to the Land of Tomorrow

"SANTA HAS SENT ME TO TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN FIND A RED SHEEP."

MR. SLEEK had hold Tom there was such a thing as a red sheep and Tom hat to believe him because if he didn't get the red sheep's wool he wouldn't get the star from Mr. Sleek and if he didn't get the star he wouldn't win the Christmas tree prize for his mother.

But the boy had no idea where to begin looking. He sat on a road side and tried to think.

Suddenly he heard a tiny sound like a neeze—not a man sneeze but a mouse sneeze—and he saw a very small creature, about the size of half an ear of corn, standing at his elbow.

"W-who are you?" gasped Tom.

"I am Rudloph I am a Santa Land fairy," said the little one.

Now Tom knew there were such things as elves and brownies and fairies in the world but it just happened he had never seen one before and he hardly dared to breathe.

Rudolph said, "Santa has sent me to tell you where you can find a red sheep."

"A red sheep!" cried Tom. "How did he know?"

"Why, boy, Santa knows pretty nearly everything. He knows, for instance, there is a red sheep in the meadows of Nettyboo."

"Nettyboo! I've never heard of it!"

"No It's not likely to be found in geography books because it's in the Land of Tomorrow."

"Oh, my goodness!" wailed Tom. "Where is that?"

"Why,' explained Rudolph matter-of-factly. "It's the Land that comes after today. It is Tomorrow and Tomorrow has things you never dreamed of—like chickens that lay eggs already fried and pigs with bacon growing out of their ears and fish without scales or bones and a sheep with red wool—for red woolen underwear, you know."

TOM'S eyebrows climbed right up his forehead in astonishment. 'Oh, my!" he gasped. "But tell me, how does one ever get there?"

"Well, it is a very ticklish business. Ordinarily today is today and tomorrow is tomorrow and when you get to tomorrow you find it's really today and tomorrow is the next day after. Some people spend all their lives waiting for tomorrow and it never comes at all because it is always the next day after."

Rudolph caught his breath and Tom caught his, too, for all this explanation had left him breathless.

Then Rudolph said, "However, I can show you a short cut." He pointed to the west. "You see over there at the edge of the world? If you go over that edge and round on the other side you will be in Tomorrow for when it's today here it is tomorrow over there."

"I see, cried Tom. "I'll go!"

"Wait!" Rudloph pointed to the sun which was directly overhead. "You must get there before the sun for when the sun gets there it wont be Tomorrow. It will be today."

"I'll run," cried Tom, and, with a wave to Rudolph, he started running across the fields. Oh, how he ran! He ran until his legs ached and his back creaked and his lungs felt like they had been pumped right out of his body.

But though he ran through most of the afternoon he never got any closer to Tomorrow and meanwhile the sun had traveled far ahead and was almost there.

FINALLY he stopped running and paused to rest by an old dump heap. Suddenly a violent wind rushed out of the east and sent a wide open umbrella scuttling over the trash. It crashed against Tom and the curved handle stuck in his belt.

He tried to free himself but the wind got under the umbrella and swept it along, carrying Tom with it. Finally he freed himself but instead of letting go of the umbrella he sat in the curve of the handle and clung to the stick with both hands.

Then a wonderful thing happened The wind became a hurricane and it swept Tom and the umbrella up into the sky. How he managed to hold on, he never knew, for he was carried faster than lightning, faster than sound, faster even than thought can go.

When the wind finally died away and he started drifting to the earth he saw he had gone faster than time itself. He had left the sun far behind in the east and the land below was the Land of Tomorrow.

BUCYRUS, Dec 12—Citing a recent poll in which 70 per cent of the persons polled believe that war within 25 years is inevitable, Governor Thomas J. Jimmy Fidler Calls Ex-Wife Bigamist

By The United Press

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12—Movie columnist Jimmy Fidler today demanded exclusive custody of an adopted daughter on grounds his ex-wife was a bigamist.

Fidler said his former wife, Roberta, 31, was married legally to B. Rayburn Burgess of New York when she married Fidler in Esenada, Mex., in 1936. She now is married to actor John Sutton and has sued for sole custody of their child, Bobbe, 5.

Since their marriage was illegal, Fidler said, she could not claim custody legally.

Majors Reject Coast's Bid but Leave Hope for Future

"We'll Keep Fighting," Says P.C.L. Prexy; Two Swaps Made As Meeting Closes

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—"The expansion of major league baseball to other territories is a virtual certainty during our lifetime," a high major league official prophesied today.

That prediction took some of the ache out of the hearts of the members of the Pacific Coast league delegation who started their journey back home with the sad news that once again their request for major league recognition had been rejected by the major leagues.

The rejection came yesterday in the form of a resolution that gave promise of better things to come.

In a carefully worded statement by Walter Mulbry, secretary to Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the majors said they recognized the probability of eventful expansion but that there appeared no minor league which was entitled to such classification at present.

The Coast league had requested either unconditional major league status or a rise in classification by increasing the draft price of its players from $10,000 to $25,000 and extending the draft eligibility from four to six years.

Will Keep Fighting

When informed of the decision, Clarence Rowland, president of the P.C.L. said, "we'll keep on battling this thing."

Although no announcement was made, the 10-club league proposition was a live subject on the floor of the joint meeting which closed out the three-day major league sessions. The National league is believed to have favored unanimously such a plan as the eventual solution of the Coast problem and the American league was in opposition by a 5-2 vote with one member not voting. Chandler, who was opposed to the P.C.L. becoming major as a unit, was reported in favor of the 10-club idea.

The New York Yankees finally came out of their trading lethargy by swapping outfielder Allie Clark to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher (Red) Embree.

In the second deal of the day, the Philadelphia Phils traded pitcher Tommy Hughes to Cincinnati for outfielder Bert Haas and player to be delivered by next spring.

Allow Play in Cuba

The most important among other business matters discussed at the joint session concerned Cuban baseball. For the first time the majors decided to allow some of their players to play winter ball in Cuba during the 1947-48 and 1948-49 seasons. Those who have not played more than 45 days in the majors are eligible, but no more than two from any one team. This will help the Cubans who recently won the right to take their pick from the minors.

BUCS ACQUIRE RIDDLE BROS., JOHN AND ELMER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — H. Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates said yesterday that his club has obtained the Riddle brothers — Johnny and Elmer — for the 1948 season.

Johnny, a veteran minor league catcher, will be used mainly as a bullpen coach and catcher. Last year, with Indianapolis, Johnny batted .338 in 79 games.

Elmer, a pitcher who had fine years with the Reds in 1941 and 1943, has been virtually inactive the past seasons with a sore arm. He attempted a comeback with the Reds last season, but compiled a record of only one victory and one loss.

Hamey said the Pirates got Riddle from the Reds for the waiver price of $10,000.

GAME SITE CHANGED

The Meeker-New Bloomington basketball game originally scheduled to be played on the Y.M.C.A. court tonight will be played instead on the New Bloomington court with a preliminary game set to start at 7 p. m. tonight.

Gambling Investigation Started In Pacific Coast Pro Football

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Dec. 12—An investigation of reported gambling in the Pacific Coast Professional Football League was being conducted today by league officials.

Detective Capt. Eugene Kennedy said "several players" on the Hawaiian Warriors club admitted betting on themselves to win. Kennedy said charges would be filed under a territorial statute making it a misdemeanor to wager on an athletic contest. Kennedy said no bribery was involved.

The Warriors won the Pacific Coast league championship Sunday by defeating Los Angeles Bulldogs 7 to 6. An exhibition game scheduled for next Sunday was called off when the Warriors' board of directors received reports that some squad members were gambling on games.

No Bets on Opponents

The team's general manager, Francis J. Bricker, said all of them denied placing bets on any opposing team. He emphasized that players of the Los Angeles Bulldogs were not involved in any way.

Brickner said the case probably will have to be reviewed by a National Professional League commissioner, because the Pacific Coast league operates under the rules of that organization.

The national rules were tightened after a bribery-attempt scandal in New York a year ago, on the eve of the title game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears.

The National league players, Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock, were suspended indefinitely by Commissioner Bert Bell, who found them guilty "of actions detrimental to the welfare" of the league and professional football. This was an outgrowth of an attempt by Alvin Paris to fix the game. Paris and three associates were convicted of attempted bribery.

18-Point Favorites

Hawaiian gamblers made the hometown Warriars an 18-point favorite for last Sunday's title game—a game they took by one point—despite the fact the Warriors lost to Los Angeles 34 to 35 the preceding week.

Brickner said players told him they thought themselves three touchdowns better than the Bulldogs, and that some acknowledged betting on themselves.

Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns had only five passes intercepted of 174 thrown in 1946.

Only seven of 237 passes thrown by Cleveland Browns last year were intercepted.

STONES WIN, 44-42, IN OVERTIME AT Y

Stone's Grill pulled out a 44-42 win over Universal Cooler in an overtime game in the Y.M.C.A. Independent Thursday Night league last night.

With but a few seconds to go in the fourth quarter, Everly sank in a basket from way out to put Stone's in a tie with the Cooler five, and then in the over time scored five points and Ridenour a foul shot while the Coolers collected but four markers. Nelson Burbrink, manager of the Cubs last summer, played an excellent game at forward for Stone's, scoring six points.

In other games at the Y, Commercial Steel swamped Pollak Steel, 51-19 with scoring honors divided among the whole first team, and Martel beat Sally Ann Inn, 51-33, with Gene Freet scoring 25 points for the winners.

Duquesne Intends To Get Back in Big Time

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec 12— Duquesne university, the little school whose grid squads once were called giant-killers, has served notice on the world that it intended again to become "one of the leading teams in America"

The Very Rev Francis P Smith, president of the school, said so last night before a crowd of more than 400 at a banquet honoring Duquesne's first post-war team—a team which won its first two games last fall only to lose the next eight in a row

"We're always going to play big-time football or we're not going to play at all," declared Father Smith "Our philosophy is this 'Take a chance with the best —or play none of them'"

NO FIREWORKS POP IN BIG 9 MEETING

CHICAGO, Dec 12—The fireworks which were expected to explode over reported football recruiting irregularities and laxity of athletic control in the Western conference didn't "pop" here yesterday as Big Nine representatives went through a routine business session

Faculty representatives athletic directors and coaches were slated to work on revision of the Big Nine handbook of rules today

The old story of why and how athletes matriculate had brought about reports of laxity in athletic control at one or more of the conference schools but the expected storm at yesterday's meeting proved to be a tempest in a teapot

CLEMSON COACH WANTS STANDARD SCHOLARSHIPS

By The Associated Press

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 12—Head Coach Frank Howard of Clemson college said in an interview today he thought there should be a "standard scholarship for football players so that the boys can go to school where they want to."

"Football players are entitled to their actual college expenses, I think," said Howard, who came to Roanoke for the 26th annual Southern conference convention. "Without football, I couldn't have gotten a college education. A lot of country boys couldn't go if they didn't depend upon football."

Wood Shot Artist Leads Miami Open

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 12—Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, believes good wood shots straight down the middle pay off as well as putting in this game of golf.

But yesterday, Haas put the two together and came up with a five under par 65 to lead the field of 230 golfers at the end of the first 18 holes of play in the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament.

Second was sturdy Ed Furgol of Detroit, who had a 66.

Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., shot a 68 and Herman Keiser of Akron, O., 69.

BOWLING SCORES

Steve Hanovich bowled a 578 series at the Palace Wednesday night to lead the Business Men's league. F. Eiseman scored a 228 game, three pins behind Hanovich's best game.

Bailey and Tanner tied for high series scores, both earning a 557, in the Osgood Affiliated league at the Palace. Tanner's 211 single game was high.

Schaffner-Denzer moved into first place in the All-Star league bowling at the Marion Rec. If Roy Snyder had collected one more pin, everyone on that team would have scored a series 500 or better. Hinklin got a 545, Snell, 560, Stewart, 512, and Pickering, 523. Roy Snyder is still second best bowler in that league, averaging 179, four pins short of son Maynard's average.

O.S.U. WILL TRAIN METER REPAIRMEN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12—The state department of education announced today a project to help the 22 Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives cut operating costs by training employes to repair and service meters.

The co-ops, providing electricity for 80,000 farm homes, usually have made it a practice to replace broken down meters with new ones. They expect, however, to effect a considerable saving by having trained employes service the meters.

Forty meter men from the co-ops will receive instruction in techniques of shop and field testing at a training school opening Monday at Ohio State university under the sponsorship of the university and the state department of education's trade and industrial division.

R. M. Reese, state supervisor of trade and industrial education; Dean L. L. Rummel of the college of agriculture and Dr. H. D. Eikenberry, also of Ohio State university, will open the three-day short course.

Mark Hawkins, of the Licking rural electrification project, Utica, O., will direct a staff of six meter technicians serving as instructors.

Win or Lose, I'll Quit In June, Says Joe Louis

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — Joe Louis, who almost a year ago remarked he wanted to retire in 1948, was on record today as saying he plans to call it quits after his return match with Jersey Joe Walcott.

"Lose, win or draw, the fight with Walcott in June is my last," the heavyweight champion told a Bronx Home News reporter in an interview in his suite at an upper Manhattan hotel.

OHIO BUC INVESTIGATES OVER 500 FRAUD CASES

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 12 — More than 900 fraud cases were investigated by the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation during the first nine months of this year, Buc Administrator Frank J. Collopy said today.

Collopy said fraud generally involves an attempt to collect unemployment benefits to which the claimant is not entitled. Such attempts, he added, usually are made by failure to properly report earnings and by misrepresentation of material facts affecting the claimant's eligibility for benefits.

The BUC investigations, Collopy said, cover fraud cases under both the Ohio law and the servicemen's readjustment act of 1944, better known as part of the GI bill.

FIRE DESTROYS OHIO POTTERY

Dilapidated Plant Had Been Turned Into $2 Million Business.

By The Associated Press

SCIO, O., Dec. 12 — L. P. Reese, who turned a dilapidated plant into the world's largest producer of plain white pottery—and then saw it destroyed by fire yesterday, promised rebuilding would start today.

Reese said the plant, the Scio Pottery Co., carried no insurance because of the high premium rate for concerns using kilns with explosive gases. He estimated the loss at $2,000,000.

Fire departments from seven communities fought the blaze and finally were forced to pump water from nearby Conotton creek when the Scio supply became exhausted.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately, but it was believed to have started in a "mangle" where flat ware passed for drying on a conveyor.

Although all manufacturing divisions were destroyed, the master dies were saved and most of the one-story unit.

Reese took over the concern in 1932 after he and a group of other unemployed pottery workers stumbled over a broken-down pottery plant while hunting. It had failed shortly before at a loss of $85,000 to Scio residents.

When the first kiln was lighted it was reported he had 11 cents and owed $19,800. A sympathetic customer who paid in advance allowed him to meet his first payroll.

Reese began paying Christmas bonuses the year after the company started. The first was a 39-cent box of chocolates to each worker.

Last year at a Christmas party he destributed $705,286.

He had planned a similar party this year, but it was not known today whether it would be held
